

OUTBURSTS OF EVERETT TRUE

MYSTERY IN SHOOTING

It has just come to light that Sewall Truax, mining engineer, who has been helpless from inflammatory rheumatism, was shot and badly wounded while in a wheel chair at the home of his father, W. C. Egan, in Highland Park, two days ago.

Great secrecy surrounds the shooting. No one at the Egan home will talk. They merely explain that he was shot while "no one else was present."

Truax married Eva Egan four years ago. Up until his illness he was a prosperous mining engineer in Canon City, Col. One of Mr. Egan's sons, H. Chandler Egan, has been the national golf champion.

Spats continue to be a smart fashion accessory.
